Case Study 01

Paid Advertising · Meta Ads

Cold Audience to 20 Leads in Less than 24 Hours — $20/Day Budget

SITUATION

A client selling a highly niche product had never run paid ads before. They were starting from zero - no pixel data, no warm audience, and a very specific buyer profile that made broad targeting risky.

STRATEGY

We implemented a precision-first approach. This included deep buyer research, tightly segmented targeting based on interests and behaviors, and direct-response ad copy focused on one core pain point. The funnel was simple and frictionless: ad → landing page → lead capture.

CHALLENGES

The audience size was small, increasing fatigue risk. The limited budget left no room for prolonged testing, and with cold traffic only, we needed fast validation without wasted spend.

RESULTS

Within the first 24 hours, the campaign generated 20 leads, 5 of which were qualified, and 2 converted into webinar attendees. The average cost per lead was $1.00. The launch validated the offer quickly and demonstrated that precise targeting can drive both efficiency and early conversions, even with a limited budget.

Building a Brand Audience from Scratch: Followers, Engagement & Sales

SITUATION

A client wanted to grow their brand on social — increase followers, engagement, and drive product sales but had zero paid ad history and no existing audience to retarget.

STRATEGY

Took a bold, broad-first approach to gather audience signal quickly. Layered the campaign: awareness ads to build reach ⟶ engagement campaigns to build social proof ⟶ retargeting ads to convert warm traffic into buyers. Creative was designed to stop the scroll first, sell second.

CHALLENGES

Building a quality audience from scratch takes time, early results required patience before optimization could kick in. Balancing three campaign objectives meant careful budget allocation. Creative fatigue risk with broad audiences required regular refreshes.

RESULTS

Consistent growth in followers and engagement as the algorithm locked in on the right audience. Retargeting campaigns successfully converted warm traffic into buyers. Audience quality improved steadily as data was refined into strong lookalikes.

Email Marketing & Automation · Kajabi + GoHighLevel

Full Email Funnel Built from Zero — No System, No Automation, No Funnel

SITUATION

The client was generating leads through paid ads but had no email system, no welcome sequence, no nurture, no automated follow-up. Leads that didn't convert immediately were simply lost. Follow-ups were manual, inconsistent, and unsustainable.

STRATEGY

Built an end-to-end funnel: Paid Ad → Landing Page → 5-Email Sequence. Email 1: Welcome & deliver. Email 2: Value & trust-build. Email 3: Offer with CTA. Email 4: Follow-up & objection handling. Email 5: Nurture for non-converters. Automation layer: triggers, segmentation logic, and timing rules for a zero-touch system.

CHALLENGES

Every possible subscriber path had to be mapped and branched. Segmentation had to be correct from day one — bad tagging upstream corrupts the entire sequence. Copywriting had to carry full persuasive weight with no sales team as backup.

RESULTS

Replaced a fully manual process with a zero-touch automated system. Every new lead now enters a structured, sequenced journey. Segmentation improved relevance and reduced unsubscribes. Client gained a scalable funnel running 24/7 without additional headcount.

Social Media Strategy · 30-60-90 Day Roadmap

Zero to Presence: Launching a Brand Account from Nothing

SITUATION

The client had no social media presence at all, no accounts, no content, no audience. Starting from a blank slate in a space where competitors already had established followings.

STRATEGY

Days 1–30: Foundation — Set up accounts, define brand voice, visual identity, and content pillars. Build content calendar.
Days 31–60: Execution — Consistent publishing, monitor early data, refine messaging, sharpen brand positioning.
Days 61–90: Optimize — Full performance review, double down on what worked, deliver a data-backed strategy for the next quarter.

CHALLENGES

Growing from zero means no algorithmic momentum, early content gets minimal reach before traction builds. Content calendars without audience data are hypotheses; required fast adaptation. Keeping client confident during the slower first 30 days before visible results.

RESULTS

Brand launched with a clear identity and consistent cadence. Engagement and prospect inquiries increased as content found its audience. By day 90, the client had a documented, data-driven strategy not just a presence, but a system.

Case Study 05

Social Media Strategy · Inconsistent Account Revival

Turning Sporadic Posting into a Consistent Growth Engine

SITUATION

A client already had social accounts but posted inconsistently, no clear brand voice, stagnant engagement, and no prospects coming through social. The problem wasn't awareness of social media; it was the lack of a system behind it.

STRATEGY

Audited existing content to find what had performed and why. Defined content pillars so every post served a purpose: educate, engage, or convert. Built a content calendar that eliminated guesswork. Applied platform-specific adjustments based on audience behavior data on each channel.

CHALLENGES

Inconsistent history means mixed algorithmic signals — rebuilding momentum takes discipline. Getting client buy-in on a structured system required clear communication on why consistency drives results. Balancing content variety while maintaining a coherent brand voice.

RESULTS

Posting became consistent and strategic — no more gaps or random content. Engagement increased as the algorithm rewarded regular, relevant publishing. Prospects began coming in through social as brand positioning became clearer and more compelling.
